I am the business development specialist for Hill & Markes, my family's wholesale distribution business. I manage the company's initiative to grow new accounts, I recruit and hire new sales people, I am developing a training program for the sales department, and I review our product mix and find new products that could enhance our offering. My wife Lisa and I have an 8 month old daughter named Anna Ayelet. HACD instilled in me a passion for learning which I constantly need to do in the business world.
